Sangha News and Gratitude

Adyashanti's teachings continue to touch the hearts of more and more people, and requests for him to give satsang and retreats have come from many parts of the US, Canada, and several European countries. This year Adyashanti accepted two of these new invitations. In August he will visit Esalen Institute in California for the first time to offer a weekend intensive, and in October he'll be visiting and offering satsang on the East Coast. Adyashanti had been teaching for less than a year when East Coast residents first began to contact Open Gate Sangha. Now, almost eight years into his teaching, Adya is pleased to be able to spend time with the growing East Coast branch of our sangha.

Retreats are Adyashanti's favorite venue for teaching. For many participants, these retreats are profoundly liberating events. Many serious spiritual seekers are drawn to the opportunity provided by retreat to delve deeply into both profound silence and intimate inquiry. Over the past several years, retreat applications have increased by more than 50 percent each year. We do our best to accommodate everyone who would like to go on retreat with Adya. Even so, during the last registration period, we had several hundred more applications than retreat spaces available. In order to keep up with this growing demand, we are now looking for larger retreat sites that can accommodate more people.

Change has accompanied this growth. These past few months have seen changes in our office staff. We want to thank Abbi Samuels, who has moved on from her job at the sangha office, for all of her contributions to our

Bay Area Intensives

WEEKEND INTENSIVES are an opportunity to spend time in deep silence and inquiry with Adyashanti and the sangha. Each day will include periods of silent meditation and satsang. Adya will give talks exploring various aspects of spiritual awakening and living an awakened life, followed by question-and-answer periods. Please join us and bring your innermost questions or simply sit in the silence and presence of eternal truth.

The Willingness to Transform

Transformation is not a step-by-step process. Nor is it accomplished by personal will or desire. Transformation happens to a humble mind and a heart willing to embrace its fears and insecurities. The question is not how to transform, but rather, is one willing to transform? Wanting to awaken is not as important as being willing to awaken.

From Freedom to Love

Discovering our essential nature brings an immense freedom and well-being. It is from this state of freedom that we discover what love truly is. This discovery of love is the opportunity for a revolution to happen in the way we live and move through life. The only question is, are we willing to embrace our true nature completely? Are we willing to love without limitation?

To Live the Truth

As many spiritual seekers know, to realize the truth of being is one thing, but to live it is quite another. In order to live the truth realized, we must be willing to embrace change, insecurity, and risk. Fear must be overcome by the motivation of love. Only through love and wisdom can we find the way to live the truths of inner revelation.

Freedom and the Unknown

Friday evening, August 27 – Sunday noon, August 29

Cost: $405-$545 (ask Esalen about off-site housing and scholarship rates)

Spiritual awakening opens the door to a life beyond ego—a life lived directly from spirit rather than from the mind. In order to live this way we must stand alone, not as an island, or a defense, isolated within the structure of ideology, but as a free being. We must step completely out of the known, out of every box, every container that humanity has ever created so that the freshness of spirit can flower ever new and free. True freedom comes when every speck of the known collapses into the unknown, not just for a moment but continually.

~Adyashanti

Dying Into Life

Sunday, November 21, 11am-6pm

Cost: $45 + (see below *)

There is more to freedom than awakening from identification with form. There is a deeper freedom and realization which is a death into life. This is where formlessness and form meet, merge, and are known and experienced to be nothing other than your own self.

~Adyashanti

Please bring a bag lunch. For more information and directions: www.spiritrock.org

TO REGISTER: Send a check for $45 to Spirit Rock. Indicate event code: AY1D04,11/21. You may also register at the door or online at www.spiritrock.org. Preregistration recommended.

registration processes, website, and systems development. Abbi's dedication to meeting the needs of those called to Adyashanti's retreats and intensives has been appreciated by many.

We also would like to welcome Sonya Bibilos who has joined us full-time, to oversee our registration department and to work in systems development. We are pleased to have her unique combination of experience, clarity, and heart in our office. Please join us in giving her a warm welcome.

Also very appreciated is Susan Kurtz, who contributes a calm presence and her beautiful graphic design work for many projects in our publications department, including this newsletter. Susan, it's great to see this in final print!

So many needs here at the office are being met beautifully. One of the most significant is our recent move to a larger office. Many thanks to all of the wonderful volunteers who helped us move, get set up, and settle in—not to mention all of those trips to Ikea! Sangha members from as far away as Sacramento, Orinda, and Fairfax came to help.

Our mail order bookstore is run almost entirely by volunteers. To keep up with the growing volume of book, DVD, and tape orders, the bookstore has expanded its operations to two days per week. Another vital operation being staffed primarily by dedicated volunteers is reception for the office, which includes answering phones and responding to email inquiries.

We want to express our gratitude to all of the volunteers who give generously of their time in so many ways—in the office; at satsangs, intensives, and retreats; transcribing and editing writings; and much more. Without these volunteers, Adyashanti would simply not be able to offer satsang to the growing numbers of people who wish to sit with him. More than 300 people were invited to the last Volunteer Intensive, which became a beautiful celebration of shared love and appreciation.

Many blessings from the sangha office staff. ☞

How Long Will It Take?

An excerpt from Adyashanti's new book, Emptiness Dancing

HERE IS A WONDERFUL STORY about a young man who checks into the monastery, full of juice and ready to be enlightened yesterday. He asks the abbot, "How long will it take me to be enlightened?" To which the abbot answers, "About ten years." The young man says, "Ten years! Why ten years?" The abbot replies, "Oh, twenty years in your case." The man asks, "Why do you say twenty years?" The abbot says, "Oh, I'm sorry. I was mistaken... thirty years."

*As soon as the thought,
"When will I really be free?"
comes up, time has just birthed itself into existence.*

If you really get it, you realize that to even ask the question gets you ten years. As soon as the thought, "When will I really be free?" comes up, time has just birthed itself into existence. And with this birth of time you have to think, "Probably at least ten years, maybe forever." Where can you go in order to get here? Any step takes you somewhere else.

This is surprising to the mind because the mind always thinks of freedom, or enlightenment, as some sort of accumulation, and of course there is nothing to accumulate. It's about realizing what you are, what you have always been. This realization is outside of time because it's now or never.

As soon as your idea of enlightenment becomes time-bound, it's always about the next moment. You may have a deep spiritual experience and then ask, "How long will I sustain this experience?" As long as you insist on the question, you remain time-bound. If you are still interested in time and the spiritual accumulations you can have in time, you will get a time-bound experience. The mind is acting as if what you are looking for isn't already present right now. Now is outside of time. There is no time, and the paradox is that the only thing that keeps you from seeing the eternal is that your mind is stuck in time. So you miss what's actually here.

Have you ever felt that you really didn't like being here very much and that you wanted some wonderful eternal experience? That's what is often thought but not said when the teacher says, "Be here right now." Inside you are feeling, "I am here, and I don't like being here. I want to be there, where enlightenment is." If you have a really true teacher, you will be told that you are mistaken, that you have never been here.

You've always been in time, therefore, you have never actually shown up here. Your body was here, but the rest of you went somewhere else.

*To be here,
all you have to do is let go of who you think you are.*

Your body has been going through this thing called "life," but your head has been going through this thing called "my fantasy about life" or "my big story about life." You have been caught in an interpretation about life, so you have never really been here.

Here is the Promised Land. The eternal is here. Have you ever noticed that you have never left here, except in your mind? When you remember the past, you are not actually in the past. Your remembering is happening here. When

Scholarships

Open Gate Sangha (OGS) offers a limited number of scholarships to local intensives and retreats for those who need financial assistance. Scholarships are awarded based on a number of criteria, including availability of OGS's funds, applicant's financial need and sincerity of intention, and prior scholarships awarded to the applicant. Our scholarship program has been designed to:

- make Adyashanti's teachings accessible to those with limited finances
- offer fair distribution of scholarships among a growing number of applicants
- remain a sustainable offering from the organization

To obtain a scholarship application, please download it from the Sangha page of our website, www.zen-satsang.org, or call the office at (408) 356-5554 as soon as possible. The scholarship application deadline for all July-December 2004 retreats is June 6, 2004. The application deadline for intensives is 5 weeks prior to each intensive. We cannot guarantee a scholarship award to any individual.

Please note that applying for a scholarship does not reserve a place in the event for which you have applied unless the scholarship request is granted. If you wish to be included in the retreat lottery, regardless of whether or not you receive a scholarship, please send in a completed registration form and your $275 deposit.

Many thanks to those who have made donations to the Scholarship Fund. Those interested in contributing can refer to "Tax-Deductible Contributions" on page 9.

you think about the future, that future projection is completely here. And when you get to the future, it's here. It's no longer the future.

To be here, all you have to do is let go of who you think you are. That's all! And then you realize, "I'm here." Here is where thoughts aren't believed. Every time you come here, you are nothing. Radiantly nothing. Absolutely and eternally zero. Emptiness that is awake. Emptiness that is full. Emptiness that is everything.

Adyashanti's new book, Emptiness Dancing, will be available in July. See box on right for more information.

Tax-Deductible Contributions

Most of your contributions to Open Gate Sangha are tax-deductible, including payments for satsangs, intensives, and retreat tuition. The accommodations portion of retreat fees, however, is not tax-deductible.

Falling Away

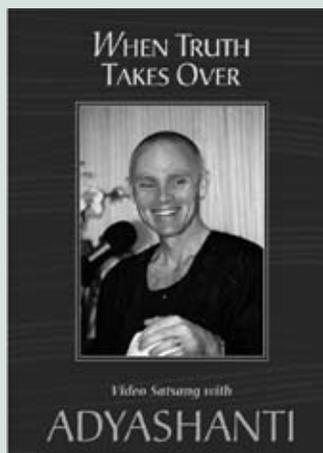

August 16, 2003 – Oakland, CA

© 2003-2004 by Adyashanti. DVD length: 90 minutes

$25 Item#4FAD

When human experience is completely accepted within oneself, daily frustrations and the “whys” of suffering fall away. This lesson is illuminated in a humorous exchange between Adyashanti and a student befuddled by her computer and by life in a high-tech, unconscious world.

When you can see that all experiences are equal expressions of the One, and that feeling bound is just as much the One as feeling free... only then does the inner division, better known as ego, fall away.
~Adyashanti

When Truth Takes Over

October 12, 2003 – Oakland, CA

© 2003-2004 by Adyashanti. DVD length: 90 minutes

$25 Item#4WTD

In this riveting satsang, Adyashanti explores how we shift from being moved by a personal self to being moved by a deep surrender to truth. This change of occupancy, without the egoic self, allows for a radiance of being that is unattached to heaven or earth.

Rather than occupying a personal self concerned with success, goals, or purpose, the truth takes over and emptiness occupies us. A deep surrender allows occupancy to change... It's all the truth ever wanted to do.
~Adyashanti

The Truth That Is Always Present

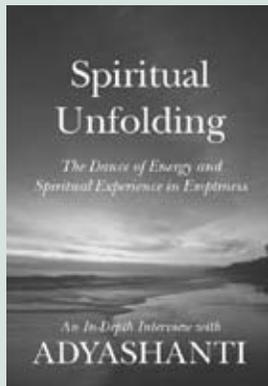

© 2003 by Adyashanti

Length: 120 minutes

Once we awaken to who we are, how do we live our lives as an embodiment of that truth? The Art of Being

$55 Item#7AOB
The art of being is the willingness to rest in the unknown, to rest in the present moment. The little “me” cannot be aware, it can only focus awareness. So when we let go of manipulating the present moment in any way, we discover that awareness is our natural state—wakefulness is already here. Instead of practicing being aware, one effortlessly takes note that awareness is always present.
~Adyashanti

New!

Awakened Living

$55 Item#7ALI
Awakening opens the door to a life beyond the ego—a life lived directly from spirit rather than from the mind. In this new world, the conditioned ego no longer feels to be the appropriate center from which to relate and function. Something far deeper is called for: a total transformation in the way we live and relate. The truth realized seeks to become the truth lived.
~Adyashanti

New!

Fidelity to Truth

$55 Item#7FTT
What would it be like to shine the light of truth into every aspect of your life? What would it mean to leave no stone unturned, to stop avoiding anything, and to hold an unwavering fidelity to truth? What would it be like? You can't know until you do it, until you step into an absolute fidelity. This is the sacred marriage where only a fierce commitment to the truth will suffice.

New Audio Cassettes

Resting in the Unborn

Item#1RIT. December 3, 2003 – Mtn View, CA
 Resting in the unborn is a potent source of true realization. This clarifying satsang explores the imaginary “me” and its resistance to the unknown. This me creates a fictional universe and then suffers over what it believes to be true. In the quietness of the moment, the unborn opens the portal to our true freedom of being.

The Natural State of Meditation

Item#1NSO. November 12, 2003 – Mtn View, CA
 This tape contains one of the clearest explanations of meditation in the Open Gate Sangha library. Adyashanti describes how disengaging the meditator marks the beginning of true meditation, how trying too hard becomes “sitting manipulation,” and how meditation may not be the quickest way to enlightenment. A primer for all students.

The True Heart

Item#1THE. October 28, 2003 – Boulder Creek, CA
 One of the biggest barriers spiritual seekers face is being certain that they have the truth while others do not. Adyashanti explains that the truth projected from the mind is ignorant while the truth emanating from the heart is a direct, intuitive knowing. This tape from a long-term students’ retreat is one all students can enjoy.

The Power of Perception

Item#1POP. February 18, 2004 – Mtn View, CA
 Adyashanti speaks of the courage it takes to perceive directly what is true and to stand alone in the vast silence in which one’s whole personalized world of thought and belief disappears. This satsang includes a revealing dialog about what happens after death. Highly recommended.

It’s a High Stakes Game, Cowboy

Item#1IAH. March 19, 2003 – Boulder Creek, CA
 This retreat dialog tape illuminates how a satsang can uplift and amuse everyone, including the teacher. Here a cowboy offers the wisdom of nothingness while Adya’s father demands “equal time.” Topics include spiritual completion, children and changing schools, and the “house builder” of ego fiction. “My kind of satsang,” says Adya.

Living the Mystery

Item#1LTM. January 28, 2004 – Mtn View, CA
 In this highly engaging satsang, Adya unveils the mind’s tendency to collect knowledge instead of living in the mystery of the unknown. Sharing practical insights and entertaining stories, Adya also addresses the student-teacher relationship, seeking approval, not abandoning oneself, the fluidity of love, and the compassion of truth in everyday life.

Retreat at Home!

©2003 by Adyashanti
 12 audio cassettes with booklet
 Approx. 20 hours
 $119 Item#7RAH

Adyashanti has often said that silent retreats are the most powerful form of his teaching. This album was created especially for those who are unable to attend a scheduled retreat, for those who are drawn to retreat in private, or for anyone who would like to engage in a profound investigation of awakening to liberation in this life.

The album includes 12 satsangs selected from a stunningly powerful 10-night retreat in which Adyashanti shares unique teachings relevant to both new and long-time students. Also included is a special handbook to assist you in creating an at-home retreat that fosters spiritual inquiry into an ever-deepening realization.

Silent Retreats

Adyashanti's retreats have become known as profoundly liberating events that open the heart of realization and true understanding. In response to Adyashanti's passionate call to awaken, many have been transformed by the direct experience of who and what they truly are.

ADYASHANTI STRUCTURES THESE RETREATS to provide a powerfully dynamic environment of profound silence and intimate satsang. Serious spiritual seekers are both nurtured and challenged to dive deeply into themselves.

The schedule of daily activities includes several periods of meditation, satsangs, and yoga or stretching. Outside of satsang, these retreats are held in silence.

Adyashanti—January through June 2004

AFTER 15 YEARS OF ZEN PRACTICE and a series of ever-deepening realizations, Adyashanti's Zen teacher asked him to teach. Since then, many spiritual seekers have awakened to their true nature while spending time with Adyashanti. His unique expression of the living truth emerges spontaneously from emptiness, free of any tradition or ideology. Adyashanti's teachings have been compared to those of the early Chan (Zen) masters and to the nondual Indian wisdom teachings of Advaita Vedanta. Adyashanti lives with his wife, Annie, in his native San Francisco Bay Area and teaches in the United States and Canada.
